

Table of Contents

Introduction: READ THIS FIRST!

Part 1: Yahweh vs. the Father: The Great Divide

Chapter 1: Jesus Simple Questions Reveal A Startling Identity 16

Chapter 2: Yahweh Unmasked: A Warrior God's Legacy 36

Chapter 3: Jesus' Father: A God of Love, Not Terror 60

Chapter 4: "I Desire Mercy, Not Sacrifice" 73

Part 2: Jesus versus Paul

Chapter 5: The Blinding Deceiver	86
Chapter 6: Jesus and Paul: Poles Apart	110
Chapter 7: Earliest Writings: How Paul Hijacked the Legacy of Jesus	124
Chapter 8: Did Jesus Endorse Yahweh's Law?	135

Part 3: Bible Texts Altered

Chapter 9: How Scribes Warped the Text	156
Chapter 10: Reclaiming Jesus from the Edits	165
Appendix 1: 7 Bible Contradictions	174
Appendix 2: Glossary of Key Terms	189
Appendix 3: Limited List of Instances of Jesus Breaking the Mosaic Law	201

Appendix 4: The phrase "pierced my hands and feet" in      212
Psalm 22:16

Bibliography      215

Introduction: READ THIS FIRST!

Congratulations for letting curiosity lead you here. Let's be blunt: This book is not for the faint of faith. The title isn't clickbait, but it is a warning. What follows will upend centuries of dogma, generations of sermons, and the mental frameworks you've inherited if you've set foot in a Christian church. This book will unsettle you. It will challenge ideas you may hold sacred. For those who love their faith, that's terrifying. Beliefs shape identity. To question them feels like losing part of ourselves.

But truth demands courage.

Part 1 asks a simple question: Would a loving father give snakes and a stone to children begging for bread? Jesus said no. Yet the god of Moses sent venomous snakes and a rock to starving, thirsty Israelites. He also plagued Egypt, killed firstborn sons, and ordered genocide. Repeatedly. Women, children, nursing infants and livestock included. How could this be Jesus' Father? The answer reshapes everything.

Ancient voices like Marcion saw this divide. Scripture shows it plainly:

Yahweh instituted oaths (Deuteronomy 6:13); Jesus called the inventor of oath-making evil (Matthew 5:37).

Yahweh met Moses face-to-face (Exodus 33:11); Jesus said no-one had seen his Father (John 6:46).

Yahweh dwelt in dark, billowing clouds on Mount Sinai (Exodus 20:21); the true God lives in unapproachable light (1 Timothy 6:16).

Even Abraham was told to murder his son (Genesis 22:2). Ezekiel claims Yahweh commanded human sacrifice to "horrify" the Israelites (Ezekiel 20:25-26). And we never noticed even though it's right there in our bibles in the Law Yahweh gave. Hiding in plain sight! The Abraham story in itself should have horrified us. But our minds and consciences had already been tampered with by then.

This isn't a minor puzzle. It's a rupture in the story we've been told.

The Three-Part Journey

Part 1: Yahweh vs. Jesus' Father

Exposing the stark differences between the God of the Old Testament and the Father Jesus described.

Part 2: Jesus vs. Paul

How Paul's teachings often contradicted Jesus' message and reframed his death as a sacrifice.

Part 3: Bible Texts Altered

Evidence that biblical texts were manipulated to maintain the sacrificial system Jesus rejected.

Part 2 confronts Paul. Jesus warned of "false" prophets, apostles and teachers. Paul checked the boxes on those warnings. Paul's teachings and character clashed with the words of the physical Jesus, whom he'd never met! Paul said it is okay to curse those with differently-held beliefs. Paul said it is okay to be deceptive. Paul almost never quoted the physical Jesus, only the light-being, spirit Jesus he encountered on the Damascus Road. He plainly stated that he had no regard for the physical, flesh-and-bone Jesus. He re-framed Jesus' death as a blood sacrifice, mirroring the Old Testament horror rituals Jesus rejected.

Letters attributed to Paul, along with altered and wrongly-interpreted Bible texts, preserved Yahweh's violent laws ... including the sacrifices that repulsed the true God. The result: A story where a loving father murders his son and is worshipped for it. Jesus' message and mission wasn't to be a sacrificial pawn in a game of legal chess between God and Satan. The Father forgives freely, like Jesus. Even when we don't ask him to, WHEN WE "KNOW NOT WHAT WE DO," like the crucifiers. No blood required.

Part 3 reveals a hidden truth: The biblical texts were altered. Jeremiah 8:8 says scribes falsified God's words. Paul's writings, together with the altered texts, cleverly shift the focus away from OBEDIENCE TO Jesus' teachings to BELIEF IN concepts about Jesus. This is a MASSIVE difference. One gets you into the Kingdom of God, the other leaves you outside despite an impressive Christian résumé which may boast signs-and-wonders, miracles, leading mega-churches, even whole-hearted belief and a 'Jesus is my Lord and Savior' confession.

The Law Jesus followed wasn't exactly the Pentateuch we know ... a fact revealed in a 19th-century discovery, almost 80 years before the arrival of the Dead Sea Scrolls. Jesus went out of his way to SHATTER Yahweh's Law, not fulfill it. He moved to the beat of a different Law, one that will never pass away.

This book is for those who struggle to make sense of glaring Bible contradictions; but also, for those whose consciences have been hardened by harsh teachings and harsher attitudes soaked in Pauline psychology. The former know who they are; the latter probably don't, for now.

It's not about tearing down faith. It's about clearing rubble to find what's real: A FATHER WHO LOVES WITHOUT CONDITIONS. No wrath. No worship of evil in the name of justice.

The outcome? A soft heart free from guilt, radiating fearless love. Non-selective love. A heart that sees Jesus' teachings—and humanity—in a light that heals and empowers. Truth may hurt at first. But it sets you free. It has done so for centuries, for humanity and the planet.

These ideas aren't new, but they've been buried under layers of orthodoxy. Once you see them, you can't unsee them. Your brain will spin inside your skull in an attempt to resist. Your heart will urge you to read on. Your brain is already twisting my words to fit what you already know.... and to get you to set this book on fire.

Awareness of this reflex, of this subconscious battle, might dial down the static ... but don't count on it. If it helps, my three teenagers grasped these concepts in under thirty minutes. We disagree on plenty, but truth cuts through noise when you let it.

The approach I've taken in this book is straightforward: Jesus' words (his authentic words as best we can deduce) reign supreme. They override every other voice—even the "divine" ones stamped with biblical approval. His teachings are the plumbline, the control group in this experiment. But here's the catch:

First, Jesus clashes with the Bible's most revered figures. Moses. Paul. Even the God of the Old Testament. These contradictions aren't quirks—they're seismic fractures in the story you've been told.

Second, Jesus sometimes appears to contradict himself. To untangle this, think like a forensic detective: Is it possible some of his "red-letter" sayings are edits, outright forgeries? I'll try to freeze the frame and dust for fingerprints to get to the evidence.

I grew up in the thick of church life. Sunday wasn't just a day ... it was the center of gravity. My earliest memories are filled with hymns echoing through the church my dad pastored, and the faint smell of worn leather Bibles. Church wasn't something we went to; it was the air we breathed.

Even when I later studied medicine and built a career in business, faith never took a back seat. Every spare moment I had, I spent buried in Scripture, convinced that if I could just study a little harder, pray a little longer, serve a little better, I'd understand God the way He truly wanted to be known.

I was raised Baptist: conservative, careful, certain. Then I found myself drawn into the charismatic world, full of passion and expectancy. I led teams, prayed for the sick, and witnessed what I could only describe as miracles. I saw lives changed, hearts healed, even bodies restored. I'll never forget praying for a deaf teenager and watching her face light up when she began to hear again. For years, I thought that was the pinnacle of faith.

But over time, a quiet unease began to surface ... like a thread tugging loose beneath the surface of my belief system. I started noticing that the things I'd built my faith around didn't always line up with what Jesus actually said. The God I'd been taught to fear didn't sound like the Father Jesus revealed.

It was a slow, disorienting awakening. And yet, that moment of doubt became the beginning of something far more beautiful ... a search for truth that finally felt alive. This book, part of the 5-book series "Rediscovering Jesus' Subverted Teachings and the Father's Love," is a glimpse into that journey of awakening.

As you can imagine with this background, I grew up kneeling at the altar of Biblical Inerrancy. My dad was a respected and influential bible teacher. Every jot and tittle of the scriptures was sacred... the Bible contained no errors. Until I watched supercomputers dissect ancient texts in seconds.

Errors aren't theoretical: they're cataloged, quantified, and undeniable. (See Appendix 1 for a cut-down, quick-fire list of 7. And read "101 Illustrated Bible Contradictions: And 12 Keys To Unlock The Truths These Reveal," another book in this series, for a deeper discussion on this topic.) Yet this doesn't negate the Creator. If anything, it sharpens the signal beneath the noise.

A disclaimer:

I'm not here to convert you, but to show how Jesus revealed the Father as best I can. My own views have shifted and continue to adjust as I dig deeper into Jesus' radical love. This book is a snapshot of my beliefs: a marker for friends and family, and maybe for you. Judge the evidence yourself. Correct me where I'm wrong.

I've earned no theology degrees (despite years of study which far exceed the hours required for these.) Just scars from decades in medicine, pharma and church life, dissecting human bodies and human beliefs. I wore the "born-again, Spirit-filled, Bible-believing" badge proudly ... until Jesus' unfiltered words turned my blood to ice.

Echo chambers amplify what we already know. Churches. Home groups. Social media. Even YouTube's algorithm. We're spoon-fed confirmations, not challenges. But truth? It arrives like a wrecking ball. It shattered my identity. It'll shatter yours too, if you let it. This is painful, but, as the passing of time reveals, is not a bad thing.

Final warning:

*Pray for truth, and you will get it ... raw,
unvarnished, and usually nothing like you imagined. Clinging to comfortable lies is easier. But if you crave the thrill of seeing, take the red pill. Turn the page.

PART 1

Yahweh vs. the Father: The Great Divide

Chapter 1: Jesus' Simple Questions Reveal A Startling Identity

"Which of you, if his son asks for bread, will give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will give him a serpent?"

— Jesus (Matthew 7:9)

Throughout the Gospels, Jesus reveals a Father of love and goodness: a Father fundamentally unlike the deity depicted in Israel's scriptures. The evidence is undeniable and damning: Jesus' own teachings flatly oppose Yahweh's actions and commands. We will not mince words or cushion the blow. It's time to fully expose the deception: Yahweh is NOT Jesus' Father, and the proof is in Scripture itself.

Jesus made it simple. A loving father doesn't mock his child's hunger.

No decent father does this, not even a disturbed, evil one. A child asks for food, and a loving parent provides. Not poison. Not cruelty wrapped as "discipline."

"If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father in heaven give good things to those who ask Him!" (Matthew 7:11)

This is the God Jesus knows. A father who gives freely, abundantly, lovingly.

Now enter Yahweh. The Israelites, wandering, starving, desperate, begged for food and water. What did their so-called "father" do? Yes, he sent them manna. But it was so unsatisfying, so insufficient, they called it "worthless bread." They cried out for something real, something nourishing.

They pleaded for survival.

Jesus' Rhetorical Question vs. Yahweh's Actions

Jesus' Question

"Which of you, if his son asks for bread, will give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will give him a serpent?" (Matthew 7:9)

Yahweh's Actions

"So Yahweh sent poisonous snakes among the people. They bit the people, and many of the Israelites died." (Numbers 21:6)

And how did Yahweh respond?

He sent venomous serpents to bite them. Many died. Here is the text in Numbers 21:4-6:

"... [the Israelites] said, "Why did you make us leave Egypt—just to let us die in the desert? There's no bread or water, and we can't stand this awful food!" So Yahweh sent poisonous snakes among the people. They bit the people, and many of the Israelites died."

There it is, in black and white. They begged for bread. Yahweh gave them snakes.

Jesus didn't just simply say Yahweh wasn't his Father ... he practically screamed it. His words expose the contradiction outright. A good father doesn't do what Yahweh did. Jesus told his hearers that even the vilest, meanest, most sinful among them would do better.

The language is somewhat coded, hence many today can't see it. It is my belief that this encoding is likely what protected the text from being erased from our bibles. It slipped past the evil editors of our current biblical text. More on this later.

And what of the stone? Jesus said no father would hand his thirsty children a stone. Yet Yahweh's idea of providing water was to have Moses strike a rock in the desert. The people thirsted for drink; Yahweh's response was, "Go hit that stone." Only after Moses beat water out of a rock did the people drink.

This was no gentle act of compassion ... it was a dramatized display of power, as if Yahweh begrudged them even the water. A genuinely loving father would have simply given them water freely, not tested Moses' obedience on a stone.

On another occasion, Moses is asked to talk to a stone for water. He made the mistake of striking it, as he did before. This single act disqualifies him from entering the 'promised land.' It was literally one strike and you're out, Moses. This after he gave up most of his life to follow the light-being in the desert, he is rewarded with an ignominious exit from the story, a 'dishonorable discharge' as it were ... a desert death, because of a